

We want TO...

We want TO...

We want TO bring your tender proposals to life!!!

Our objective is to turn your next proposal into a stylish, highly professional submission.

Recruitment Academy would like to introduce our associate editor/designer Michael Scott, who can take the pain out of writing tenders and proposals!

As a professional writer, Michael understands importance of pointed, free-flowing words – and he is available to you, whether you require assistance in proofing and editing , creative design and layout, or simply constructive feedback.

He will tighten your words, moulding your submission into a persuasive document to ensure your message is readily understood by prospective clients. And that it sticks with them.

For heightened impact, Michael can also breathe life into your documents by seamlessly integrating your company branding, giving them them a cohesive and eye-catching new look.

At a competitive hourly rate, Michael can help ease the pressure of looming deadlines. After-hours and weekend work can be negotiated.
